FFA Boys To Start Development Mon. On Model Farm

County Leases Project Land For Period Of Ten Years

Local FFA boys will start their operations from place farming on scattered lots to a 60-acre area north of Chocoma where they will develop a model farm.

Spearheading the movement, Mrs. Wedgeworth Timmon, got the county school board to lease the land for ten years for FFA use. The county also just purchased a new D-2 tractor for the FFA. She said that this development is a safety measure eliminating the necessity for FFA students moving equipment over the road from one plot to the other. Also the model farm will provide a project on which the boys can learn practical methods and the best farming procedures, she stated. It is the first time the local group has had a place to call its own.

The model farm will be the first to be erected in the county and probably will be the only one in the state except a farm in Miami which is shared by three schools.

The boys will be in on every stage of the development from the beginning which will be the surveying this week. The farm will be ditched and diked and pumps will be installed.

The 90 boys in the FFA group here will do most of the work themselves, J. R. Davidson, agricultural instructor, said this week.

Following through the development phases, they will run the area down, level it, lay mole drains, fence it and plant about 30 acres in corn, pinto and St. Augustine grass for pasture.

Formerly FFA projects were scattered on small acreages located in Bean City, South Bay, in front of the hospital and next to the school.

Davidson estimated that 30 acres of the farm will be used for cattle and 30 acres for truck crops.

"If arrangements can be made, we may still use some of the separate scattered plots for cattle and put most of the farm area into truck crops," Davidson said.

Future plans call for the erection of an arc building on the farm for the storage of equipment and installation of boys' shower facilities.

"I also hope we get an ornamental nursery started from which we can supply the schools and the community with shrubs and trees," Davidson said.

Green Cridders Fill Ram Positions

With only six letters and a heavy burden of spongers, Coach Doug Leavitt has been conducting "tough practice" sessions to get the "green inexperienced" Rams into shape for the first season game with St. Mary's Thursday night.

"The team does not have the weight that it had last year," Leavitt said, pointing out that the line averages 200 pounds lighter per man.

Linebackers, including six lettersmen will form the nucleus of the team, Leavitt said. With the emphasis on fundamentals due to the number of inexperienced line, the Rams have less than a week of practice before the season starts.

Practices have showed that the team is weak offensively at the ends and weak all along the line defensively according to Leavitt. Three or four guards have shown strength, but they have to have a head behind them. There will probably be four sophomores on the starting team.

The team will use the information and its various weapons which were expounded at the start of the season.

But the same with St. Mary's should be a pretty even and battle for the teams are evenly matched, Leavitt stated.

The long-term schedule includes St. Mary's on Sept. 14, Vero Beach on Sept. 22, Cape Coral on Sept. 29, Ft. Pierce on Oct. 12, Stuart on Oct. 19, Ft. Pierce on Oct. 26, Ft. Pierce on Nov. 2, Lake Worth on Nov. 9, Crest on Nov. 16 and Pahokee on Nov. 23.

During the intensive four-day program delegates met fellow members from such far away places as Newfoundland, Alaska, and Hawaii. Laymen representing all occupational groups marched in the procession which opened the congress.

BELLE GLADE HERALD READ IN UNITED STATES ENGINEERS OFFICE

Every now and then the Herald staff discovers evidence of the paper's far flung circulation area.

This week John T. Pickett, chief engineer of a card from Chief of the Army Engineers who stated that he keeps a copy of the Herald.

Under the T formation the Woodruff employs, the offensive center must be coordinated enough to lay the ball in the quarterback's hands at precisely the right moment. Split second timing is essential.

This is probably McDonald's biggest attribute. As a football, basketball and baseball star at the local high school, he developed an unusual amount of dexterity for a person of his stature.

As a blocker, McDonald is hard to beat. He has the stamina of an ox.

While McDonald's presence brightens the first-string center picture, lack of depth in the middle of the line confronts Woodruff as a major problem.

Other than McDonald, only a few players, center, Martin Carter, blazes the state roster.

Newly elected commissioners experienced the most rapid rise and fall in the history of statemen are Tuesday night following the announcement of election returns.

A few minutes they flourished in their first flush of glory following victory. "Cocky" Carlton even invited half the people to a brief libation at the Dixiana. But this hilarity was young to die, for the newly arrived commissioners slipped from their freshly erected pedestals of the publicity appointed to the clutches of the law.

"Will The Millionth Traffic Death Be A Local Teenager?"
"Are 1,000,000 ghosts a reproach beyond acceptance," asks the National Safety Council pointing out that sometime in the middle of December this year the 1,000,000th casualty will occur somewhere on American highways.

The startling question, who will be the 1,000,000th to die in this most tragic waste of modern times, the sacrifice in the machine drawn hour, confronts us squarely. Will it happen in Belle Glade? Will it happen to a well known older citizen or to a young high school student?

The possibility that a young life here might account for the 1,000,000th death is a dreadful realization. But if the key to halting this disaster—personal concern—does not become prevalent, it may happen here.

The Community Youth Center at the Municipal Club every Friday night has developed into a well rounded program of wholesome recreation and social activity for the high school group.

It would be regrettable indeed if these should be turned into a reason for community mourning. This would be the case if several of the younger set should lose their lives or become mutilated through a senseless accident on the curved road leading to these events.

Yet the law of average says that this may happen sometime and that the time is catching up. Each Friday night motor cars roll down that way, some time in races. Side by side the youths' autos often travel as they marvel at the unleashed speed of the machine. As they travel double they shout invectives and darts of the race.

Will it take such an American Tragedy some place on a bamboo lined curve or the slick wooden bridge to allow this city from its apathy?

Will it take a city's mourning to make the parents admonish their children on speed and recklessness. Perhaps a threatened loss of the use of the family car now would prevent this occurrence in the future.

It would be a good thing if several parents stationed themselves along East Lake Road some Friday night and observed the dangerous evidence of their children.

ONEAL WALKER RESIGNS AS SOUTH BAY MAYOR

Mayor Oneal Walker resigned at the meeting of the South Bay City Council last week to provide for the reorganization of the city council according to the new charter for the coming municipal election October 2. His term extended for another year.

According to the new charter, five councilmen select one of their number to act as mayor for the next year. As vice-mayor, the mayor is to preside at all meetings; has a voice and vote; presides at all meetings; presides over the municipal court and act as executive officer for the city.

C. E. Crisfield was named mayor and R. G. Fisher, vice-mayor to serve until the organization of the council in October.

Two new councilmen and a chief of police are to be elected. The terms of C. E. Crisfield and Mark Challancin expire at this time. Hold over councilmen are Mayor Oneal, Fisher, M. J. Hardy and R. G. Fisher.

The deadline for filing as candidates in the coming election is Saturday, Sept. 15 at 12 o'clock noon. Up to Monday

CORN PRICE SUPPORT RATE SET AT $1.72

The 1951 corn price support rate for all Florida counties has been announced at $1.72 per bushel for U. S. grade No. 2 or better or No. 4 on test weight only, according to E. S. Dennis, executive officer with the Production and Marketing Administration.

He adds that if 90 percent of the corn parity price on October 1, the beginning of the marketing year, is higher than at present, the rate may be increased slightly.

Chlorine To Be Available For Public Health Needs

The Florida State Board of Health has been assured that sufficient chlorine will be available for essential public health needs in this state.

But the state's municipalities will have to follow regulations laid down by the National Production Authority in the operation of chlorine plants and to make sure that it is being used properly for essential public health purposes, and that it is a national defense item.

That is the word today from the State Board of Health Bureau of Sanitary Engineering, in a memorandum to State Health officer Wilson T. Sowder.

Lee has just returned from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with the National Production Authority (NPA) officials on procedures for obtaining chlorine needed in the operation of Florida's water and sewage treatment plants.

"Copies of the NPA regulation covering the public health uses of chlorine have gone out to every city, town and community," said Lee, "advising them of the necessary procedure in applying for chlorine for essential public health needs. Essential public health needs include water and sewerage pools be added."

The defense production effort has threatened to create a shortage of chlorine and controls have been set up to safeguard this key item. But the NPA has been "awakened" to the importance of chlorine in essential public health work, and will make the necessary arrangements available.

Florida's expanding network of modern water and sewage treatment plants has resulted in substantial increases in the amount of chlorine needed for Lee cited 18 Florida cities and towns which have boosted their chlorine needs because of expanded water or sewage treatment plants or both.

Approximately 80 per cent over last year, chlorine consumption has jumped from 421,745 pounds used by these cities to an estimated 776,050 pounds for the fiscal period beginning paper 1951 season upon signing of the new charter.

Cities and towns figuring in the increase because of expanded facilities include Bartow, Bradenton, Clearwater, Fort Meade, Lakeland, Palatka, Palmetto, Plant City, St. Augustine, Tarpon Springs, Sarasota-Bradenton Airport, Winter Haven, Orlando, Hollywood, Holly Hill, Leesburg, and Treasure Island.

Motorists Cautioned To Watch For School Children

With more than half million children returning to school this month, Safety Director H. N. Kirkman urged motorists to be doubly careful when approaching school zones.

"Expect the unexpected from children," he pointed out that in addition to travel in private automobiles, bicycles and walking, buses will be operating on city streets and highways transporting children to and from school.

"Motorists who ignore the law requiring a full stop when meeting or overtaking a bus while it is loading or unloading risk arrest, the Florida Highway Patrol Director warned."

Police Officer Must Write His Own Accident Reports

Even a police officer involved in an automobile wreck is required to make his own confidential operators accident report, Safety Director H. N. Kirkman said today.

He explained that under Florida's regulatory traffic law every person involved in a traffic accident in which there is a fatality, injury or property damage of approximately $50 must file an accident report on a form furnished by the Florida Highway Patrol within twenty-four hours.

"This does not exempt a member of our Department or any other police officer," Kirkman said.

The Safety Director also explained that the total property damage includes the amount of

MOTORISTS ADVISED TO HEED TRAFFIC SIGNS

Motorists were advised today to heed traffic signs and signals by Safety Director H. N. Kirkman.

He stated that 106 persons were killed in Florida traffic accidents in 1950, 68 of them in rural areas, because drivers failed to heed various signals or signs. The most frequent violation in this category, the Safety Director pointed out, was disregarding stop signs which cost the lives of 48 persons.

Kirkman said that traffic signs and signals are "truly signs of life and the taxpayers themselves have paid the cost of erecting them on the streets and highways for their own protection."

He stated that "the State Road Department, in its wide traffic engineering program for safety, spends much time and labor in behalf of the taxpayers of our state and it behooves motorists to pay careful attention to each traffic symbol because they were erected only to save his life."

With the football season starting, we notice more than 24 high school coaches have switched schools. It is musical chairs played to the stink of the coaches view the future through smoke-colored eyes.

And every interview they receive sounds as though it came from a fellow playing with machine in a dramatic sideline separate tell it, they'll say. It must be the men who can stand without support. It must be the men who can stand without support. It must be the men who can stand without support.

But about this time at any fall all the football coaches are at the annual coaches' convention and give the away, and support. They must be the men who can stand without support. They must be the men who can stand without support.

CIRCUIT COURT

Case has occurred previously. Court in previous election has been contested in court because of illegal votes have involved identified Johnson stated. In the city's case Leibovitz's vote could not be identified.

Due to the illegal vote came when Leibovitz, realizing that his vote made the difference in the commission post, spoke to City Clerk Anderson and G. I. Evans, clerk of the election board.

He voluntarily signed an affidavit declaring he knowingly voted illegally. The affidavit was also signed by members of the election board.

Leibovitz is not a qualified voter of the city since he moved to his residence in Chosen May 3 last year.

After residing there for one year he again moved his residence to Belle Glade 3 of this year. This action disqualified him under the ruling regarding residence within the city 12 months preceding the election.

When he went to the poll to vote, election board members were unable to find his name on the book. After he produced his permanent registration card, Evans sought the advice of the clerk to determine if Leibovitz was qualified to vote, according to Leibovitz's statement.

In the meantime the board permitted him to cast his vote on the street. His registration card. While he was voting his wife sought her registration card in her home as her name was not in the book. When she returned to vote the clerk had already voted and stopped her explaining that she was not qualified due to her moving.

"When she returned to the house," Leibovitz said, "I said, 'I realized for the first time that I had cast an illegal vote.'"

Votes by candidates as announced Tuesday following the election were: North Borough, H. O. Carlson 266, James Hart 265, W. K. Whitlock 146; Central Borough, W. L. Collins 262, A. Richmond 247, C. C. Livingston 114, E. R. Price 57; West Borough, Hugh Close 360, O. F. Thomas 321.

A total of 724 ballots were cast out of an official poll list of 1,191 and nine ballots were spoiled, according to the clerk.

The referendum on the bill giving voting power to the city commission lost by 508 to 169 votes.

Not more than thirty minutes after the glorious victory knell sounded for the three—Carlton, Close and Collins—were escorted to the city police office under warrants.

And their offenses were not of light nature. "Cocky," who busy inspecting the jail for a cell with a south east exposure, was charged with being too tight with his campaign funds. Close was charged with not spending enough time for campaign purposes and Collins' fate was due to the fact that he was too casual about election matters giving the impression that he didn't care.

After spending several minutes trying to get someone to go their bond, they became reconciled to deciding what would do them the new jail in the way of manual labor.

Several of the wives seemed unsympathetic with their husbands' plights stating to police authorities that the other ladies could stay there until the season is over.

The case of the "Three C's" seemed a conundrum for a while. How would it look to the outside world—three public servants sliding from commission to prisoner in one short evening?

This realization brought dark thoughts and heads were placed together.

In the midnight hour the police department came up with an outstanding decision which was designed to save the honor of the city not to mention that of the commissioners. Department officials decided to parole these trustees on good behavior and for that reason they are walking around free today.

This is the season when Northern friends begin to feel sorry for us. Yes, it's the hurricane season and each and every Floridian will agree that hurricanes are certainly overpublicized. Not that a hurricane should be underestimated, but Northern newspapers and newsreels have a field day when a storm strikes our Sunshine State. Even though other parts of the country are subjected to on-slaughts from Mother Nature they seldom receive the publicity that we do.

The Jamaican tragedy makes us all aware of the terrible damage a tropical hurricane can bring on. It's better to be safe than sorry—with this in mind here are a few hints to insure the safety of your family and property.

Modern weather methods make it possible for us to know when a storm is approaching. Be well prepared! Be sure you have a good stock of foodstuffs, particularly non-perishable foods, bread, milk and foods that won't require cooking. I've heard of an alcohol stoker. This has been a wonderful invention. Not only is it useful in hurricanes, but we have enjoyed it on vacation trips and picnics. Have a plentiful supply of matches, candles or hurricane lamps. A flashlight and batteries. Fill your thermos bottles with water and, as an extra precaution, your bathtub and basins. A case of Coca-Cola will come in handy. Enlist the aid of each member of your family and check the outside of the house and surrounding yard. Make sure that there is nothing loose for the strong wind to blow out. Your yard and porch furniture should be brought indoors. Your garbage containers, bird baths and the children's swings and trapezes should be tied down or dismantled. If you have a large picture window it should be boarded up or secured with some of the commercial brand bracing material. Just for this purpose. There isn't much you can do with trees and shrubbery except for bracing them. Be sure to check your first aid kit and medical supplies.

The American Red Cross has prepared an outstanding booklet that all of us should have in our homes. Then, too, the newspapers do a commendable job in listing precautions. Keep these booklets and rules handy in case of a hurricane.

Finally, I want to pass one more hint on to you. If you have children in the family don't forget to have a toy or two, a jigsaw puzzle or new book to keep them amused.

This can apply to the whole family; be prepared to stay in the house for quite a few hours so have some diversion planned.

Hurricanes aren't fun at all, but they are part of Florida living and we might just as well grin and bear them!

MRS. SCULEN

In the class of those in "Tobacco Road."

"In 'Cam' I have touched lightly on politics and the gangster element, but I didn't go deeply into these angles because I was not familiar with them and I wanted to be sure of what I wrote. I have strived to tell only those things about which I have adequate knowledge and a good background.

Starting ten years ago when her novel, Mrs. Scullen only worked on it at infrequent intervals during the war years due to the many demands of her time. But during the last four years she has devoted much of her time rewriting and revising. In all she has completely rewritten the book three times.

The early versions of the book included many other parts of the country with only sections set in the Glades. But on the advice of a professional critic, she capitalized on her experience here and her knowledge of the locale and made her book into a regional story.

The critic advised her to play up the Everglades theme and leave out material which other writers have used. He encouraged her to write that she had a wealth of unusual material which was new and could be woven into a theme which hasn't been done to death by modern writers.

Heeding his suggestions, Mrs. Scullen reworked her novel which centers on the love story of the highly cultured Cam who through necessity was thrown in contact with the packing house crowd. The 90,000 word novel tells how this turn of events influenced the hero's life.

Although "Cam" will be the first published work of Mrs. Scullen, she is not a newcomer in the writing field.

She served as correspondent for the Miami Herald for 12 years and the Palm Beach Post and the Lauderdale News. She worked on the Belle Glade Herald staff during the war years.

Mrs. Scullen is scheduled to go to New York City about

"Because our way of life's at stake -"

SAYS JIMMY STEWART

"Defense is our job, too!"

Right now there are an awful lot of kids in our armed forces doing their job for defense.

But defense is our job, too, you know. And the stability of America depends on the individual financial strength of every one of us, gained through our U. S. Defense Bonds or other forms of saving.

That's why our government is having this big Defense Bond Drive. To give you an opportunity to build your financial independence. And to contribute to the strength of American Remembrance, peace is for the strong.

So sign up to buy an extra bond. Do it through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. Then go on buying bonds regularly!

Buy Defense Bonds every month. Now they earn interest 10 years longer!

Don't forget that bonds are now a better buy than ever. Because now every Series E Bond you own can automatically go on earning interest every year for 20 years from date of purchase instead of 10 as before! This means that the bond you bought for $18.75 can return you not just $25 - but as much as $33.33! A $37.50 bond pays $66.66. And so on. And remember, bankers recommend Defense Bonds as one of the safest forms of investment.

There is no safer investment in the world today... Buy U. S. Defense Bonds!

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

A new Florida law now makes license plates available to those veterans of the State of Florida who own motor vehicles and who acquired some by virtue of legislation passed by Congress on August 3, 1946, Public Law 663, 75th Congress, which granted funds up to $1,000 for purchase of automobiles and other conveyances to amputees and other World War I veterans who lost the use of one or both legs, or at above the ankle.

The law as enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida, Chapter 23339 (No. 360):

"Section 1. A free motor vehicle license number plate shall be issued by the motor vehicle commissioner or his agents upon proof by any veteran, a resident of Florida, that he is the owner of a motor vehicle and acquired same through financial assistance by the veterans administration of the federal government, such assistance being provided for those World War I veterans who suffered the loss of use of one or both legs at or above the ankle. But no such license plate shall be transferable."

The Act was approved by Governor Warren June 8, 1951.

Each veteran who acquired a motor vehicle under Public Law 663 is entitled to free plates and should apply directly to the Florida Motor Vehicle Commissioner, P. O. Box 742, Tallahassee. The application will be made on the form now issued in applying for motor vehicle license plates, which must be accompanied by a certificate obtained from the Veterans Administration Regional Office through which the vehicle was obtained. This certificate will be proof of ownership of such vehicle.

It is important that the certificate from the VA show the motor number, make and model of the vehicle.

When requesting the certificate the veteran should give the name of the dealer who sold the vehicle, inasmuch as the VA has the motor numbers filed under the name of the dealer.

Veterans who purchased vehicles that a dealer had sold the VA, inasmuch as the VA has the motor numbers filed under the name of the dealer, through which assistance was granted, for the certificate.

Crusade For Freedom Balloons To Be Scattered In Florida

If you see a funny looking pillow shaped balloon floating over your home or find one on your front lawn, and examining it discover it is imprinted with the words "Soviet" or "Wolnois" don't be alarmed.

These balloons, similar to those now being released in Western Europe by the Campaign against Communism, will be released with fitting ceremony in many Florida cities this month as part of the CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM program.

Those queer looking words may not mean much to you, but they spell "Freedom" in the Polish and Czech language. This dramatic use of the balloons is to acquaint you with one of the methods now being used to pierce the iron curtain.

You can personally help in this mighty Crusade for Freedom by contributing as you are able so that more balloons can be released and more radio stations created to carry the TRUTH to the enslaved nations.

Nothing has been so disturbing or so more feared by the Kremlin than these constant messages of TRUTH that are reaching the captive people of Eastern Europe.

State Chairman Harold Cole urges your full support of this worthwhile effort to help fight the lies of Communism with TRUTH about America and the Free World.

TECH. SGT. Charles Price, local Marine recruiter, announced that a Marine Recruit will be at the Post Office here each Tuesday afternoon during September for the purpose of answering queries concerning the opportunities offered by an enlistment in the Marine Corps.

Local residents, both male and female, are invited to visit the sergeant between the hours of 2 and 3 p. m.

Sergeant Price also announced that for the first time since World War II, young ladies who join the Women's Reserve will have an opportunity to be stationed in Hawaii for duty.

Enlisted personnel for this duty will be selected from Marine Corps activities throughout the country, and the first contingent of one officer and 17 enlisted Women Marines are scheduled to report for duty at Headquarters, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, at Pearl Harbor, early in October for administrative duty. Sergeant Price plans for sending its women members overseas to the Hawaiian Islands.

SUGAR CORP. TERMS CANE PROSPECTS EXCELLENT

Following an inspection of can fields of the United States Sugar Company plantations, Harry T. Vaughn, vice-president and general manager of the corporation, termed cane prospects for the coming season to be "excellent."

With the harvest season still two months off, Vaughn would make no prediction as to the outcome of the present crop since there are too many factors which enter into the picture, including the possibility of hurricane or flood damage.

Weather conditions throughout the growing season have been splendid," he said, "with not too much rain and plenty of moisture, an ideal combination for the growing of sugar cane."

Harvest operations usually begin around the first of November and continue for seven months.

Who Will Be Millionaire To Die In Traffic Accident

Who will be the one millionth person to die in a traffic accident? Where will it happen? Exactly when?

The National Safety Council said today the answers to those questions never will be known.

If the present rate of traffic deaths continues, some time next December a child will dart into the street, a homeward-bound salesman will try to pass a truck on a hill, a young couple will turn off a curve on the way to a dance, an old woman will become confused crossing a street—and the millionth traffic victim will pass unheralded into a dusty police file.

But even though the actual identity of the millionth victim will remain a mystery, the Council has made plans which will enable it to name the fatal day as a climax to an intensive safe driving campaign in which all safety organizations are cooperating.

The Council announced it is setting up the machinery to supplement its regular monthly reports with special weekly bulletins from the states.

November 15, the Council will begin issuing weekly bulletins on the grand total of traffic deaths since the advent of the automobile. These bulletins also will forecast the probable date of the millionth traffic fatality.

"Our only purpose in trying to identify such a grim date in history is to dramatize the horror of such a huge traffic toll," said Ned H. Dearborn, Council president. "Perhaps 1,000,000 dead—almost twice the number of Americans who have died in combat in all our wars—will crack the apathy of a nation which can see 35,000 persons killed by autos in a year without much concern."

"It has taken a little more than 50 years to kill the first million. If traffic deaths continue at the present rate, it will take only 30 years to kill the second million. We can only hope that this terrible day of seven-figure road deaths will become a safety milestone—not just another grave-stone on the road to more responsible use of the automobile."

The Council, which makes regular, cumulative tabulations of traffic deaths, said that even its elaborate nationwide reporting system is not fast enough to give up-to-the-minute totals. Furthermore, vital statistics were not recorded completely by all the states in earlier years after the turn of the century, so that motor vehicle death totals for some years are estimates based on the best available information.

Thus any attempt to identify the actual millionth victim, Mr. Dearborn said, would place the spotlight of notoriety arbitrarily on the tragedy of one family and one spotlessly should be turned on the tragedy of a nation which permits motor madness to go on.

NEW FFVA BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Construction of a new office building for the Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association, a statewide organization, is now under way in Orlando. When completed the new structure will be a two-story building.

The Association, whose members grow and ship the bulk of Florida's $120,000,000 annual crop of fruit and vegetables, except citrus.

The new building is scheduled for completion about October 1 and will be occupied immediately following the Eighth Annual Convention of the Association in Miami Beach on October 3, 4 and 5. Present officers of the organization are also in Orlando.

An urgent need for twice the present floor space as a result of increased activities requiring additional personnel was given as the reason for the move from present quarters.

The office building, which will be 40 feet by 80 feet, is to be of reinforced concrete and masonry construction. Air conditioned, it will consist of a general manager's office, a large office and assembly room, and a mailing room.

LaMonte Graw, general manager of the Association explained that the directors selected Orlando for the building because of the convenience of such a central location to the hundreds of members whose enterprises are located in nearly all parts of the state.

RURAL PEOPLE GIVEN ADVICE ON PREPARING FOR TROPICAL STORMS

While farmers and others are hoping that tropical storms will "stay away" from Florida this fall, it nevertheless is worthwhile for folks to make arrangements to protect themselves and their property from injury and damage in the event high winds do strike the state within the next few weeks.

Most Florida people know about tropical storms and their danger and the damage they can do, and, fortunately, many folks prepare for them and the losses of life and property are not nearly as heavy as they were a few years ago.

"Just in case" a storm should strike the state, it is well for rural people to heed the suggestions made recently by the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations and Extension Service on the matter.

Repair all leaks in the roofs of the home, barns, and other buildings to ward off the torrents of rain that usually accompany the high winds.

Replace all broken or cracked windows for high winds may blow them out.

Cut down and remove weakened and decayed trees near the home and other buildings.

Keep the yard clean and free of loose objects that might be blown by the wind.

If a storm is nearing, roll up rugs and move from doors and windows, move upholstered furniture and beds away from windows, fasten covers securely on chimneys, and fasten hinged windows securely.

Stay in the house or other building during the storm. Keep a good supply of canned foods and other supplies on hand.

If electric power fails, report it as soon as possible. Do not attempt to move or repair fallen or broken wires. Keep candles or oil lamps handy for use in case of electric failure.

In case of emergency, call the sheriff, police, or Red Cross. Do not use the phone to talk about the storm to others; it may be needed for emergency.

OPS Sets Ceilings On Canned Fruits, Vegetables

New ceiling prices have been set by the Office of Price Stabilization on the 1951 packs of canned fruits, berries, vegetables and vegetable juices.

The vegetable amendment Ceiling Price Regulation 55 places ceilings on canned lima beans, snap beans, beets, sweet corn, tomatoes and tomato juice. The fruits and berries amendment, Ceiling Price Regulation 56 sets the prices on canned fruits or berry nectars, berries, plums, peaches, fresh figs, grapes, freestone peaches and pears. The ceiling prices, which are effective this month, will mean higher prices in some instances, lower in other cases, but no substantial overall changes in retail prices, the District Office of Price Stabilization explains.

A jungle farmer in the tropics can clear and crop about 2 acres per year. An American wheat farmer can handle 1,000 acres with knowledge and machinery, according to the Florida Farm Bureau.
